Dedication

As we reminisce over the past three years, one personality is predominant in our fondest of memories. To us this individual exemplifies our ideals of a woman in white who gives unselfishly of herself in the service of others. She is one who has given to us the guidance and inspiration that was so often needed during our days as student nurses.

We, the Senior Class of 1958, dedicate this book to Miss Mary K. Powers.

A Nurse

Envisioned, a life that is useful,
Fulfilling, and happiness wrought
Derived from helping others—
Thus success, satisfaction is sought . . .

Sought and found at the end of a path
That is often rugged and steep;
Won by practice, struggles, a tear,
But the reward's a treasure to keep.

A candle, a cap, and the Bible,
Symbols of service and love,
Guiding beacons to alter our lives
To comply with His will from above.

This pure, white, white, world we've entered
Presents an ambiguous face
Harshness, kindness, coolness and warmth
Its pulsebeat is human grace.

Striving to comfort our fellowman
We'll conquer conditions adverse
Thanking Him, who called us to be
The right hand of Mercy—a nurse!

—By Jane Ann Hausman

LOOKING AHEAD

"Sh-h-h, Girls. Quiet please! We take this opportunity to welcome you, the class of the year 1999½ to Spaceview where you will be spending the next 10½ years working, studying, eating, and sleeping. Without further delay and with due respect we feel we should introduce Mrs. Black, the former MARY BAUMAN, who will be with you the first part of your training. She was a graduate of this hospital in 1958 when it was called Parkview. She wished to increase her knowledge in space nursing since her husband, Dr. Black, is going to set up his office in Mars.

"We shall now proceed on the tour through the hospital."

As the new class enters the lobby a volunteer introduces herself as JUDY MARTIN. (Judy has given up nursing for this job because of the better pay.) Who else should they meet but GLENDA MILLER who decided to go with the group on the tour.

One of the first officials to whom the group was introduced was the new assistant director of nurses, JANEEN SWIFT, whose main job was to find the missing spirits of fermenti.

Commencing with Surgery, JENEAN LONGSWORTH, Supervisor, would not let the group go through but BONNIE BARTLETT, head nurse, did sneak three of the girls in and they got to see DR. DRABENSTOT performing one of her great RHC operations. Assisting Dr. Drabenstot was DR. DREHER, who recently obtained her TPR degree.

Proceeding on with the tour they passed Central Supply. There they noticed this unusually small woman wrapping packs. Who should this dwarf be but CAROL NOLL. Miss Noll explains her size with this statement, "I'm the living example of what happens to the human body when run through the autoclave!"

In the Emergency Room there was quite a bit of activity which the group got to observe. It seems that JOYCE McMINN finally flagged down a patient for Spaceview who turns out to be JUDYBETH CONNIN. It seems Judy and that thermometer shaker will never get along. ALICE HUFFER was applying the cast to the broken wrist.

Passing the Pharmacy we spied the famed GLENDA HOLLOWAY who had her fortune by inventing the "Pill of Youth."

Coming to the Physical Therapy Department the group heard several babies crying. It seems that BARBARA LOVEJOY, MARCIA BROWN and HELEN MORTON were trying to teach their grandchildren to walk. The children are four months old and aren't walking yet. Too bad, poor things.

Pausing a few minutes, the group had a moment of prayer in the Chapel. BETTYANN ALDRED, playing the organ and MARY SLUSSER, vocalist, made these precious moments more enjoyable. SHIRLEY FREEMAN contributed some thoughts worth remembering.

Coming from the Occupational Therapy Department the group passed the Laboratory. A startling sight quieted all the chattering. There was a white foam coming from the windows and doors. And who should swim out the door but SUZIE PACK and MARY LUTZ. It seems that they had been working on a new formula but somebody goofed!

Floating down to X-ray, the probies met another well known personality, CAROLYN GETTY. How men with "shiny domes" love her since she solved all their problems for them.

On the way to the basement we met JERRY BENEDICT. She was crying just as though her heart would break. She had just been fired since the diet kitchen had been taken over by the M&T nurse because of food in pill form.

Next the group came to the new Health Service. Yes sir, since SHARON NOBLE has been on the job everything has been changed. Temp now—103°!

Second floor held many interests for the class. One of the first friendly faces they saw was that of SHARON TOM. Busily filling out an incident report, she took time to explain to the group the importance of reading the medicine cards carefully. Somehow the pills got mixed and instead of giving a patient G.B. dye she had given him six pills that were a seven course meal. The poor patient had a blow-out.

Everyone was eager to tour the Delivery Room. Last week DR. PAT TUSING helped deliver JANICE WATROUS's third child. At first no one seemed to notice the new baby until one day WILMA ROBERTS, supervisor in nursery A, heard it say "bow-wow." She sent the baby to PAT LYON, Pediatric supervisor, who is doing research on pre-natal influence. Janice Watrous stated she had been baby sitting for her Veterinarian husband with the puppies of "Mut-nik" 6 months prior to delivery.

Following the OB Department, they visited the Post Partum ward. Walking by an overcrowded room they heard the voice of JANET HUSTON who had just had her thirty-first baby in 10 years!! You figure it out, we haven't been able to yet!

Next the group went up to third floor and there they saw an amusing sight. JOYCE ENGLE jumping gayly about the hall with a butterfly net. When asked how she enjoyed her job she indignantly informed the group that she WAS NO LONGER WORKING HERE, but was residing in 342.

Suddenly the class witnessed a heart chilling scene. Sure enough there were three very stern looking instructors (NORMA SHEAR, DORIS POULSON and BETTY BIGGERSTAFF) hovered around a television set. Closer inspection showed it not to be an ordinary TV for there was a student nurse going about her duties with linen scattered about the room and the patient slowly making his bed. No sir, this was no ordinary school of nursing.

Due to the elevators being in use, the group took the back stairs up to 4th floor. On the way they saw two very strangely dressed nurses. (CONNIE FISHER and DEVILLA DEAN) wearing jet shoes and carrying spy glasses. They were very obviously hospital detectives in disguise. Seems they were looking for some missing students.

While on 4th floor and being shown the clean utility room, they met some of the head nurses. . . . MARJORIE SILLS and SALLY SKINNER on ONE of their many coffee breaks. They were very happy to take time out to show the girls around though. One point of interest was a very tragic situation. It was explained as follows: NANCY CLELAND, who worked in the Special Care Room soon after graduation had stuck her head through a porthole in an iron lung . . . and no one has been able to remedy the situation. However, the hospital gives her reduced rates for occupying the same room longer than 40 years.

After touring the rest of the 20 floors of Spaceview, the group boarded the hospital's private helicopter run by the former AUDREY KUHN, who learned to fly from her husband, and journeyed to the hospital's new floating floor. It is the only one like it in the U.S. and is especially equipped to care for space accidents. Both the floor and helicopter were donated by DOROTHY LAZOFF who retired many years ago but runs her own Pediatric ward at home. After the 20 minute ride the group was met by CAROL STUMP—head nurse on the new department. She explained the ultra modern equipment and its use. Who should they find in the halls but NANCY LENON. At the time she was just taking time out from her coffee break to mop the hall. Years before Nancy had decided to become a maid because of the advantages this job had to offer. Other registered maids on this floor were MARTHA BURRIS and PEG BURNWORTH who had just finished their break, and were working on the magazine, "Outer Space Lover." Carol introduced the class to CAROLYN GREGG, a patient on the space ward who had been suffering from a strange disease. She contacted it while making a trip to the moon because she ate too much green cheese.

Just before going back to the dorm the girls ran into PAM WEBER. It seems Pam loved good old PMSN so much that she comes back every day just to breathe in the air.

Yes, this has been an exciting and tiring day for these girls, but one they will never forget!!

We Say Goodbye

At the end of three years we have finally cleaned our closets. We found many things which are dear to our hearts and which we feel will be an asset to you, the Class of 1959, in your Senior Year.

I, Sue Ann Drabenstot, will to Barbara Shaffer this specimen from my first scrub, a tonsillectomy with "Dr. Manypowders" which I have treasured these past 2 years.

I, Dorothy Lazoff, will to Ala Nova Lynch my special privilege to receive extra night duty training. This is an example of what the extra night training will do to you.

I, Marcia Brown, will to Monica Fleck my uniform buttons and 4 safety pins as I lost the shanks long ago.

I, DeVilla Dean, will to Violet Larimore my calm attitude and my serene acceptance of life's little blows. Also a year's supply of Thorazine to pull you through to graduation.

I, Judybeth Connin, will to Vicki Stemen my spare tire. Vicki, I realize you have had a lot of misfortune with your tires, with this tire you'll never miss "greasing" Gardners every week.

I, Marjorie Sills, will my ability to keep Delivery Room looking like Shiny Shultz to Charlene Bate.

I, Nancy Lenon, will to Peggy Williams my ability to get up and attend classes while working nights and to stay awake after getting there! Good Luck in the future Peggy.

I, Connie Fisher, will to Jackie Clair the mysterious piece of chocolate cake that only Jackie knows the whereabouts.

I, Glenda Holloway, will to Marilyn Rowdon all these old unwanted articles that I've overlooked and carried off duty in my pockets: tape, pencils, catheter clamps, medicine cards, needles, pill trays, tongue blades, gauze, charge slips, tourniquets, rubber bands, writing tablets, safety pins and the narcotic key. This last article should be returned "stat" for someone may need it.

I, Jerry Benedict, will to Mary Marquis my "alma mater"—shorty pj's, the latest in original dormitory attire. They, having endured 3 years of training, I believe are still good for one more year.

I, Mary Jane Lutz, hereby will to Ruth James my long dark hair and my height of 5'2" to use at her discretion or convenience.

I, Janice Watrous, will to Becky Davis the ability to resist other men and have a good time in spite of it.

I, Norma Shear, will to Renee Neihouser first of all my piggy bank for 3 years. I've scrimped and saved and finally ended up with nothing, and also my hose which have seen me faithfully through my Senior Year, and my best wishes for a very happy Senior Year.

I, Doris Poulson, will to Ina Scott my ability to raid her little sis's room to find the keys to her car for her unexpected fiance home from the service. Hope you didn't miss your car Ina.

I, Audrey Ann Kuhn, will 7 letters to Rita Schwaiger to send to her fiance so that she can have a week's vacation from letter writing.

I, Mary Bauman, will Shirley Wass my ability to recover from Infectious Mononucleosis—"The kissing disease" without spreading the disease further.

I, Mary Ann Slusser, having a deep devotion to night duty, will to Linda Arend my ability to sleep with the help of the following: Equinal, Atarax, Sparine, Trilafon, Pacatal and Carbital.

I, Sharon Tom, being of questionable sound mind due to 3 years of training, will my best shoe to Susan Darr, hoping that she'll put her best foot forward.

I, Janeen Swift, knowing that Mary Lou Williams is already a fellow blusher, will to her this big beet so she can be a bigger, better blooming blusher.

I, Sally Skinner, will this pan and can of Bromidrosis powder to Sue Zimmerman in hopes that she can keep her feet smelling like rose petals as I have.

I, Wilma Roberts, will to Carol Follis this pint sized pair of bandage scissors to be used only on plaster casts.

I, Pat Tusing, will to Connie Sudlow my ability to catch the measles at the ripe old age of 22 after working one day on Peds.

I, Lorraine Biggerstaff, hereby will to Naomi Vian my faithful alarm clock in hopes that she will resist the over-sleeping temptation during her Senior year.

I, Bonnie Bartlett, will to Bonnie Davis the undeniable privilege of loaning various asundry things to her classmates, such as hoops, crenolins and Merry Widows. This is a good way to "support" the class.

I, Suzie Pack, and I, Carol Noll, will to Gwen Meyers and Marilyn Miller our deck of cards and knitting needles so that you both will have an exciting time at Logansport.

I, Nancy Cleland, will to Joan VanHorn this old and well used pair of shoes to wear while off duty.

I, Jenean Longworth, will to Jodie Roberts my ability to cram into every minute of training on duty and off all the fun possible without being campused.

I, Joyce Engle, leave to Marilyn Moyer my well worn uniforms that are in perfect condition. They should hold up for another year.

I, Pat Lyon, will to Karen Karr my ability to sleep through classes undisturbed despite the sharp elbows of my good neighbors.

I, Carol Stump, will to Ruth Bulmahn my ability to get on duty in 5 minutes after a Saturday night date. Here is a well used timer.

I, Sharon Noble, will to Janet Camp a bottle of Rinso Blue to be used tid and prn to rinse away the Senior Blues next year.

I, Helen Morton, will to Sylvia Hedricks the ability to be married while in Surgery, take call, work nights, and keep a happy husband, all while being a student nurse at good old Parkview Hospital.

I, Sharon Dreher, will to Fletta Griggs my collection of ticket stubs, programs and souvenirs of exciting places to go plus a miniature pair of ice skates to remind you of the time you skated on a dark country farm pond by parking lights.

I, Barbara Lovejoy, being of reasonably sound mind, do hereby will to Sue Sauder my well worn dirty, duty shoes for dirty duty.

I, Glenda Miller, bequeath to Pat Metzger a lasso, so that she may also capture a certain Air Force fellow's heart, also my well kept lecture notes and hope she has room to store them.

I, Joyce McMinn do hereby will to Marti McClure my ability to work nights and relief when a certain someone comes home from Purdue on the week ends.

I, Janet Huston, will to Flo Ann Sours my favorite seat on the train bound for Ohio, in hopes that she will have days off without classes.

I, Carolyn Gregg, so old and so gray, to Nancy Ryan, so young and so gay, I will my thoughts and daydreams in lectures.

I, Judy Martin, do hereby will to Sue Springer my pleasant memories of Logansport and my unique attractiveness to poison ivy which enabled me to take a luxurious ten-day sick leave and also my ability to charm the housemothers despite being campused for a week end.

I, Peggy Burnworth, will to LuAnn Hoth my pair of soft soled sneakers and a map for getting into the Nurses Home after hours at Irene Byron since their recent employment of a house mother. Use it to the best of your nerve and good luck.

I, Bettyann Aldred, will to Roxanna Hyman my ability to get into trouble.

I, Pam Weber, will to Sandy Metzger a snack for her very close companion and a booklet entitled "Cats Don't Belong in Houses."

I, Alice Faye Huffer, will to Sue Lammiman my white? shoes. May they carry you through your last year faster than they did me.

I, Martha Burris, will to Barbara Morgan, Charlene Teagarden, Ruth Townsend, and Kathy Riech my ability to change schools and adjust to the routines and to be accepted by everyone here at Parkview.

I, Carolyn Getty, will to Roberta Carr my Pepsodent smile in hopes you can use it successfully in having several most enjoyable evenings with an extern as I did.

I, Shirley Freeman, will to Janet Clup my long legs so that you may discard all the stools we find hidden around the hospital.

Lamp Staff

We, the Class of 1958, wish to present THE LAMP to the students of Parkview School of Nursing and to those who have taken interest in our student body.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the advisors, sponsors, and staff editors for their many hours of hard work in making this annual possible. And we give special thanks to Robert McConnell and Lucille Botteron without whose help this book would not have been possible.

On behalf of the entire LAMP staff, we sincerely hope this annual brings you much enjoyment and serves as a source of memories in years to come.
